

SOCIAL WORK/HUMAN SERVICES

See Also Human Services

Social Work/Human Services is a course of study for those interested in employment in such diverse settings as group homes and halfway houses; correctional, developmental disability agencies, and community mental health centers; family, child, and youth service agencies; and programs concerned with substance abuse issues, family violence, homelessness, aging or other social issues. The primary focus of the social work/human services worker is to assist individuals and communities to function as effectively as possible and improve individual, family, and community well-being by taking environmental and social resources into consideration.

The field of social work/human services includes case managers, advocates, grant writers, youth workers, volunteer coordinators, human resource specialists, corrections officers, trainers, para-educators, and advocacy. The Human Services AA and certificate programs are structured around interrelated components including:

- theoretical foundations/intervention strategies;
- client population/cultural diversity;
- research/evaluation; and
- skill development/field experience.

Successful completion of appropriate coursework will enable students to either further their education, seek employment in a variety of social service organizations, or both.
